The Church, a Divine Institution.

An excerpt of a sermon delivered at the opening exercises of the new Sunday school room of the Christian church, Sunday, June 1st.

We are to think of the church in the apostolic phrases as the pillar and ground of the truth. It is a place of holy memories to us, for we cannot forget those who have entered into rest, and whose labors made our present achievements possible. We are not slow to write high upon our records the names of those who during the past year have given time and substance to bring this building to its present state of completeness, and we do well when we do; but we cannot forget those who have lived their little day in the fear of God and have gathered to their fathers, and now sleep beneath their tents of turf. They have passed out of our sight; we are slow to believe that we have passed out of theirs. We know something of their employments now; they surely know much of ours. The great host who live just beyond the cloud may be much nearer to us than we think; and it is not idle to indulge the fancy that they are interested spectators of our happiness today. The spiritual world touches us on every side. And to the pioneers we give our word of appreciation as we think of their sacrifices and their toils, their prayers and their tears. They laid the foundation, and we have built thereupon.

In fifty years the people whom we have the honor to represent have made wonderful progress. When Garfield, one of our preachers and a college president, was elected, we numbered scarce half a million. Today we number a million and a half. At that time we had not many church buildings that were worthy of mention. Today we are erecting buildings that cost thousands of dollars, and we have a few that take rank with some of the finest in the architecture of the country. In that period we had few missionaries and small missionary revenues. Today our missionaries are in almost every land, and the receipts run into the millions. We even have our martyrs in many lands. We have made history wonderfully fast. We are adding our contribution to it today. From the Bible school of the fifties with a few teachers and twenty or thirty pupils, we passed to one with twenty teachers and an enrollment of over 300. Our membership has grown year after year. The congregation supports two missionaries, and is making a fine record for its benevolent and missionary work. Its financial system of current expenses is one of the best to be found anywhere. And yet we feel that our work is just beginning; we have ascended the mountain side, and have caught a vision of the fields white unto the harvest.

It is an inspiration for us to think today that we are part of the church universal, of that great company in all lands and in all time, who have by the devotion of their lives made the world glorious. The mute inglorious Miltons, the world over, in quiet and obscure parishes, the mighty Miltons who thundered against oppression, and lived their lives humbly and fearlessly are part of the company with whom we are today in closest fellowship. We think of the labors of Dr. Duff in India, of Paton in South Seas, of Judson and Carey, of Livingstone in Africa, and we thank God for the courage and fidelity of their lives and which have been bequeathed to us; and fervently do we recall the great ministry of such men as Jeremy Taylor, of Hooker, of Stanley, of Farrar in England; and in America of Storrs, of Beecher, of Brooks, of Broadbent, and the present day preachers who are extending the boundaries of the Kingdom.

Their triumphs are our own, though we may differ in the forms and the externals of our worship.

And now that we begin these services in this place, may our hearts be set on the best things. Let us realize more than ever the burdens that are laid upon us. The church must have a voice to warn and encourage, and as well hands and feet to do. We must minister to the needy, care for the children, instruct the ignorant, and bear the loads of those who cannot well bear them alone. Thus in the name of the Lord we shall set up our banners.

Dr. Claxton at Eastern

The State Normal School, familiarly known as "Eastern," will have a commencement feature that will attract great attention throughout the State. The annual exercises for the class of 1913 will have for the orator of the occasion Hon. P. P. Claxton, U. S. Commissioner of Education. This educational event will take place the morning of June 13th and the authorities are preparing to make the day memorable. Probably no other institution in the State will have so great an educator for a speaker. The entire Normal community is alive to this large opportunity. Other sessions for this day are a business meeting of the alumni reception and banquet at night. Special preparations have been made to make this alumni gathering the greatest in Eastern's history.

Commencement week proper begins next Sunday evening, June the eighth, when the Reverend Dr. Quisenberry, Pastor of the First Baptist church of Richmond, will deliver the annual commencement sermon. Dr. Quisenberry, a new-comer to Richmond, is a college ex-president and has held a number of important pastorates. He is a speaker of great ability. As usual added musical features will be presented at this session.

Monday, June 9th, is Class and Field Day. Appropriate athletic and social features will be forth-coming. The reception for the Juniors and Seniors of the Model High School (a department of the State Normal) will occur the evening of the 9th.

Tuesday, the 10th, the presentation of Elementary Certificates will take place in the Auditorium. During the evening the Commencement Play will be given. This is a new event and is anticipated with interest and pleasure.

Presentation of Intermediate Certificates will take place Wednesday morning. In the evening at the graduation exercises of the Model School, Dr. A. S. MacKenzie, of State University, will deliver the address in behalf of the Senior Class.

The last chapel exercises of the term will be conducted by the Senior Class. This service will be, as usual, both impressive and appropriate to the occasion. This feature will take place both in the Auditorium and on the Campus and will occupy most of Thursday forenoon. The President's Reception and Promenade Concert will be given this year on the Campus. President and Mrs. Crabbe, assisted by the faculty, will be the center of a most elaborate function. This is the real social event of the Normal community. As noted, on Friday Commissioner Claxton will be present to deliver the Commencement address.

Not a Knocker, But A. K. T. Knocks All The Same.

Editor of Climax:—

I do not desire or intend to constitute myself either a "knocker," or a "censor" of our city, but as an old "residential," there are a number of serious troubles that even a blind man could not fail to see. For years our town and county have been distinguished abroad for both the culture of its citizenship as well as their material prosperity. These two splendid blessings have not brought about co-operation and unanimity in regard to public affairs and progress among our citizens, but just the reverse.

The prevailing spirit rather is "to let every man take care of himself and the devil take the hindmost." This lack of co-operation crops out in many ways, i. e.—the Commercial Club. Many such organizations have been started, each has lived peacefully and died contented. Yet it is impossible to estimate the benefits accruing to a town from an organization of this kind with 400 or 500 members. A year ago when a new contract was made by the city with the Water & Light Co., it should have been referred to such a club by the city council, instead of to a committee of private citizens who had little weight because of their number. A live commercial club could have put over with ease the Chautauqua movement inaugurated here a week or so ago, which took some time and considerable trouble to bring to us again. This is one of the greatest attractions our people have ever enjoyed, being both wholesome and instructive. It is both an annoyance and labor when the burden falls on the shoulders of half a dozen men. It would be nothing to a club such as I have suggested.

Such a club will be of vital help in getting reduction of the electric light charges, which are twice as high as they are in Nicholasville, and about three times those in other towns to the private consumer. Such a club ought to be able to secure better incoming and outgoing freight rates, which other towns have done, and certainly better depot accommodations, which are discreditable to both city and railroad. A splendid club makes business in all lines. Our lawyers, doctors, bank presidents and very few of our leading merchants take any interest in the club, which a few younger men have been struggling to keep going.

A few months ago, a young gentleman who had formerly resided here was on a visit. One day he remarked, "This is the most remarkable town I have ever known." All listened for the conclusion, and it was: "It is finished!" And while I do not agree with this statement in toto, there are strong evidences that it has a semblance of truth. The trouble with us is we are too well satisfied with our conditions. Everybody is perfectly willing for anybody else to put on any schemes for either amusement or progress, but do not wish to be annoyed themselves.

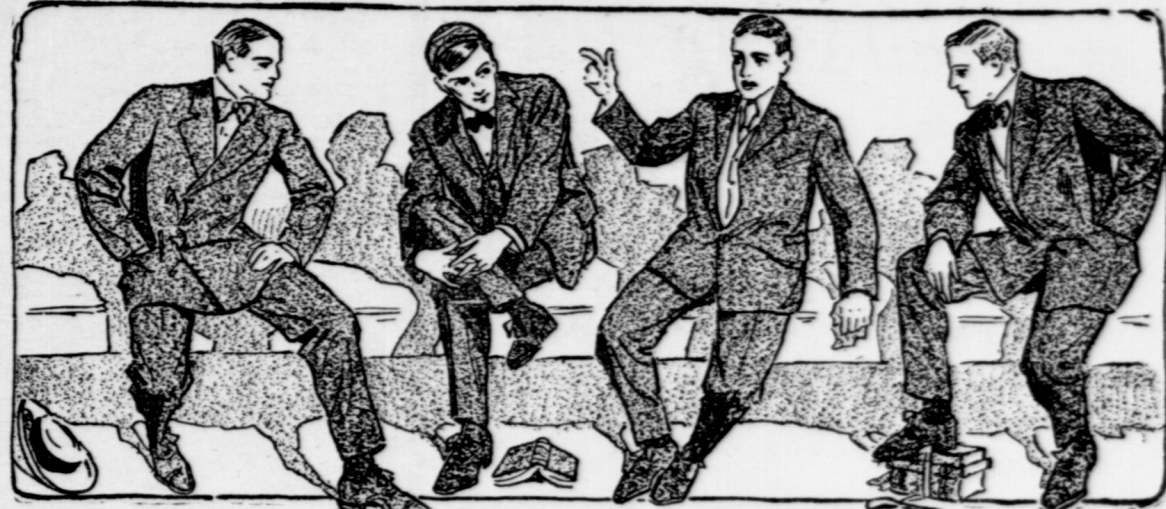

In concluding this article I cannot altogether acquit our city papers. They are like our people, very conservative, very much afraid that they will hurt some one's feelings or lose a customer, I cannot tell which.

Let's all turn over a new page and start fresh. A. K. T.

When a man makes an especial effort to impress you with the fact that he is not this or that, it is sometimes safe to wager that he is, or very near it, or that the public has a suspicion that he is, anyway. So in the case of "A. K. T." who makes a contribution to this issue of the Climax. The writer starts out by saying that he or she is not a "knocker" or a "censor," but reading between the lines we see very much of that sort of an individual. The first "knock" is on the city for not supporting the Commercial Club. Then his "big stick" falls on Richmond for not growing; the Electric Light Company comes in for its share of "knocking," because its rates are not as low as Nicholasville or some other place. The writer exhausts himself before he gets to the newspapers, but sums up enough steam to say "the newspapers are afraid they will hurt somebody's feelings or lose a customer."

Down at Frankfort the Commercial Club adopted as its slogan the three words—"Boost, Don't Knock." What a pity A. K. T. doesn't use his or her talents in the same good way? He or she wants the world to know, or at least to think that we are slow and poky; afraid of our shadows, extorters, not progressive, but stricken with lethargy. The writer impresses us as being one who is ashamed of the town in which he or she lives, and is sorry that fate has decreed that he or she remain here. Fortunately indeed it is that Richmond has citizens who will champion her rights and who resent such onslaughts as A. K. T. contributes. Although a resident of the goodly city for less than a year, the editor's conclusions of Richmond and her people are far different from those of this would-be defamer. Not as progressive, possibly, as some of the Western towns, but sufficiently so to make it a good business point and a delightful place to live. It has culture, refinement and a people who are really the salt of the earth. We are glad we came among them and indulge the hope that we may live here long enough to see the last vestige of the "knocker"

The newspaper men and women of Kentucky are looking forward with much pleasure to the annual meeting of the Kentucky Press Association at Olympia Springs next week. The Climax will be represented by Mr. A. D. Miller and his charming wife, who have attended many of the meetings and who always enjoy the annual outing. Our brothers of the quill had better make the best of Mr. Miller's presence this time, for this may be his last. The political bee is buzzing in his bonnet and hereafter he may be too busy making laws to devote his attention to the social side of the newspaper business.

This report of State Inspector Good-paster on the financial management of Eastern Normal appears in today's papers but we have not had time to read and comment on it. Usurpation of power is charged and the financial policy of the school management is attacked, but no charge is made that all money handled by the institution has not been accounted for.

A MICHIGAN man killed himself because he was jilted in a love affair. Probably had he waited a few hours the fool killer would have been around and saved him the trouble. No use of being in such a hurry to shuffle off this mortal coil, any way. Chances are the fellow who takes his life will have to suffer more in the hereafter than he did here.

What are the TAXES on Your FARM?

Would they be a nickel more each year if you increased your output one-third?

IF WE SHOW YOU that on a moderate investment it will earn you each year at the least 50 per cent outside of the saving of labor, and without figuring the added size of your manure pile, would you entertain a proposition whereby we furnish the article and it shall earn every cent of its cost to you before you pay for it?

High Honor for Prof. McDougle

Prof. E. C. McDougle, of the Eastern Normal faculty, will attend Clark University next year on a graduate fellowship, which is something quite out of the ordinary. The fellowship will cover all expenses and also give a considerable remuneration beyond this amount. Prof. McDougle will enjoy a year with a number of America's great educational authorities and will at this time rejoice with him. His election was the securing of the almost impossible. We are glad to state that he will return next year and fill his chair at Eastern, where he is admired and loved by those who know his sterling worth. His son, Prof. Ivan McDougle, will go with him for his post graduate work or to enter Clark University. 72-2t

"The District Leader"

Is a story of love and politics, with exquisite musical numbers that dovetail into the story to a nicety, will be seen for the first time in tabloid form at the Opera House for three nights, beginning Monday June 9. The book, music and lyrics are by Joseph E. Howard, composer of "The Time, Place and Girl," "Girl Question," "A Stubborn Cinderella," "The Land of Nod" and half a hundred other musical successes. The story is well told and is full of high-class comedy. The acting company is one of the very best, headed by Albert Denier, who is seen as "Ezra Whittle," the milkman. The chorus is not only large, but of exceptional quality. The production from scenic, costume and electrical effect standpoint is superb. 72-2t

The train leaves Richmond at 7:20 Monday morning over the L. & A. and there will be a special car for Madison county people. On this trip all boys and girls under 16 years will be permitted to go through the cave free. This offer will not be made again and it is given residents of no other State except Kentucky. 72-2t

James F. Holdam Dead.

James F. Holdam, circuit clerk of Lincoln and one of the best and cleverest men in the State, died in a Louisville hospital Thursday morning following an operation in which one kidney was removed. He had been ill for some months and was thought to be getting better when the final summons came. He is survived by his wife, who was a Miss James, and one daughter, Miss Ella Holdam who resides in Chicago. Mrs. Holdam was a very capable man and was not only a splendid clerk but an expert mathematician. He lived at Crab Orchard until elected circuit clerk many years ago but has since resided at Stanford. Liked by everybody, his death has cast a gloom over the section in which he lived. 72-4t

Mrs. Jackson Freeman Dies in Lexington.

Mrs. Jackson Freeman, who lived in this city until some years ago, died at the home of her niece, Mrs. Foster, in Lexington Tuesday and the remains were brought here and laid by the side of those of her husband in Richmond Cemetery Thursday at noon. Dr. J. W. Crutchfield made a short talk at the grave. Mrs. Freeman was a Miss Rowland before her marriage and was a devout member of the Methodist church. She had many friends here who deeply regret her taking away. It will be remembered that her husband died very suddenly in this city a few years ago. She left no children. 72-4t

A Society Event.

The coming of Mrs. Beecher Chautauqua week, is regarded in many cities as a great society event. She is very popular in society circles in the South, as well as being America's greatest woman interpreter of literature. 72-4t

Since the announcement that Mrs. Isabella Gargill Beecher is to appear on all Redpath Chautauqua programs this summer, the suggestion has been made in several towns that her appearance be made a society event or a red letter day among the literary or women's clubs. 72-4t

Mrs. Beecher is not only America's greatest woman reader, but she is also one of the best known society and literary women of the Southland. 72-4t

It will not likely be possible for her to stand the physical strain of being entertained at a big society or literary function at all the 110 cities on the Redpath Chautauqua circuit, in addition to her platform work, but, of course, not all cities have society or literary organizations or women's clubs sufficiently strong to successfully conduct such an event. 72-4t

That Disease Among Horses.

Black tongue, or some form of influenza, has become epidemic here and six horses have died from it in the past week. As stated elsewhere, the city council ordered the city veterinarian to take some action in preventing a spread of the disease, but up to the hour of going to press he had not arrived. Many horses have been sent to the country and more will be as soon as places for them can be secured. Every effort is being made to arrest the ravages of the fatal disease, and it is hoped that a further spread of it may be stopped. Those who have lost horses from it are J. R. Azbill, three; A. J. Willoughby, two; Oldham & Lackey, one. That of the latter was one of their hearse horses and his mate is expected to die from the disease. It was reported that Mrs. James W. Caperton had had two horses to die, but this, we are glad to say, proved untrue. 72-4t

The Law On the Subject

At this particular time when horses are dying from a disease that baffles the veterinarians it would be well for every owner of such to acquaint himself with the law concerning those animals that are affected with a communicable disease or are suspected of having such and it is for that reason that we present the law to our readers this afternoon: 72-4t

An Act to Prevent the Spread of Communicable Diseases Among Domestic Animals in the State of Kentucky, and to Provide Greater Protection to the Live Stock Industry of the State. 72-4t

1. That it shall be the duty of the owner or person in charge of any domestic animal or animals, who discovers, suspects, or has reason to believe that such animal or animals as aforesaid are affected with any communicable disease, to immediately report the fact, before or upon such animal or animals, to the County Live Stock Inspector or to the State Live Stock Inspector of the county in which the said domestic animal or animals are found. 72-4t

2. Be it further enacted, that the County Live Stock Inspector of each county, whenever any case or cases of communicable disease of any domestic animal of his county are reported to exist shall immediately cause the same to be investigated, and should such investigation show a reasonable probability that such animal or animals are affected with a communicable disease, the said County Live Stock Inspector shall immediately establish such temporary quarantine as may be necessary, in his judgment, to prevent the spread of disease, and shall, without delay, report all action taken to the State Live Stock Sanitary Board, and the acts of the said County Live Stock Inspector shall have same force and effect as though established by the State Live Stock Sanitary Board, until such time as they shall take charge of the case, or cases, and the County Live Stock Inspector of every county in the State shall adopt and enforce such rules and regulations as said State Live Stock Sanitary Board may prescribe, having for their object the prevention and restriction of any communicable disease among domestic animals which may be either threatened or developed in such localities; and all expense incurred by County Live Stock Inspector in carrying out this act shall be in like manner as other expenses of the county are. 72-4t

City Council Meets Thursday Morning.

In order that action might be taken to do everything possible to prevent the further spread of the disease that has caused the death of several horses in this city, the council was called into session between 10 and 11 o'clock yesterday. Last night was the regular monthly meeting time, and while the members were in session they finished up the business yesterday morning, so the city hall was as dark as "fluegas" last night at the hour the honorable body is usually in session. 72-4t

It was ordered that every livery stable in the city be closed, and on the statement of Dr. J. G. Bosley that the disease affecting so many horses is infectious, it was further ordered that persons be prevented from frequenting the stables. 72-4t

The tax rate for the coming year was fixed at $1.25, the same as at present. Fifty cents of this amount goes to the school fund and 75 cents to municipal purposes. 72-4t

The following board of supervisors was appointed: Messrs. Lyman Parrish, W. A. Langford and C. T. Fox. Good men, all of them. 72-4t

A motion was made to repeal the ordinance relating to Sunday base ball. The vote stood three to three and Mayor Rice voted to let the ordinance prohibiting Sunday ball stand. 72-4t

An ordinance was presented prohibiting the maintenance of dog kennels within the city limits, but on investigation it was found that a law covering that was already on the books. 72-4t

A number of small bills were audited and ordered paid. 72-4t

Richmond Boys Win Laurels.

The Richmond base ball team came back from Carlisle last night in high feather, having won both of the games played with the team of that city. The first resulted in the score of 11 to 4, and the second 11 to 5. Eleven seems to be a lucky number with the Richmond team. James Parks pitched the second game and struck out 11 men. Only one hit was secured off of him. He came to bat eight times and got six hits. The pitching of Lewis in the first game was one of the features of the double-header. The line-up was as follows: Winkler 3d base, Barnett shortstop, Gambert left field, James Parks center field and pitcher, Turpin right field, Curtis Parks 1st base and catcher, Hicks catcher and 1st base, Devore 2d base, Lewis pitcher. Azbill batted for Devore in the 7th inning and Jones for Turpin in the 5th. 72-4t

The marriage of Tom Miller, of Casey county, to 17-year-old Lillie May Thomas, whom he was alleged to have seduced did not prevent his conviction for the offense and the affirming by the Court of Appeals of his four-year sentence. Miller appealed because the testimony of his wife was introduced against him. It was shown, however, that within three years she left him on account of his alleged conduct, and the court held that her testimony, therefore, was admissible.

The Scientific Application of Heat

Few people realize the importance of heat applied to the body. Heat expands the muscles; relaxes the blood vessels and allows a greater flow of blood and in that way works wonders in many cases. Applied to the feet at bed time it draws from the brain and promotes refreshing sleep. Heat successfully combats headache, toothache, neuralgia, stomach cramps and relieves pains in muscles and back. Bruises, stiff joints and colds are also benefited by its application. The old-fashioned heated brick and hot flat iron were forerunners of the modern method of applying heat—by means of the Hot Water Bottle. This present day convenience should be in every home and ready for immediate use.

To Prevent Re-absorption of Poisons

Self poisoning or Auto-intoxication is caused by food fermenting in the colon channels. In such cases many physicians advise flushing with slightly soapy, warm water, thus removing the source of infection and Auto-intoxication. A Rubber Syringe is best for this purpose. There are syringes for every purpose—for the eye, the ear, the throat and stomach—but the most important is the regular household syringe, with which everyone should be supplied. This simple and inexpensive means of keeping clean and healthy should be used frequently to flush the lower intestinal regions and combat the harmful effects that the re-absorption of poisons is sure to promote. Everyone should have this useful article—so—

Why Salves Can't Cure Eczema

Since the old-fashioned theory of curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists, many different salves have been tried for skin diseases. But it has been found that these salves only clog the pores and cannot penetrate to the inner skin below the epidermis where the eczema germs are lodged. This—the quality of penetrating—probably explains the tremendous success of the well known liquid eczema remedy, oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc., as compounded in D.B.D. Prescription. If you do not find that it takes away the itch AT ONCE, it costs you not a cent.
